STARLIGHT (EVENING) SEA CANOEING IN PHANG NGA BAY / (Daily: 12.30 – 21.30 hrs)

Hong by Starlight takes the day trip concept one step further. We kayak in the uncrowded afternoon, and then experience day’s transition to total darkness. Three natural light sources and one special feeling create this “Lifetime” experience. With no torches, no talking and “total” darkness, the serenity is as overwhelming as the natural light show. Can you guess the three light sources – maybe four? Hong by Starlight is better in the Low season rain, when lightning and thunder echo off the darkened cliff walls. Rain or not, this is a very special experiences. After your Starlight Hong and on the way back to Ao Por, we serve your second meal of the day, the famous Thai seafood buffet. You won’t need another dinner. Finish off by comparing Western and Thai constellations on the “Moon” deck

SEA CANOEING IN PHANG NGA BAY / (Daily: 07.30 – 17.00 hrs)

The National Marine Park Phang Nga Bay is natural art gallery full of majestic limestone formations. The scene in this amazing bay, which you always see by flying in or take off from the International Airport of Phuket are real non-classified world wonder. "HONG" is the Thai word for Room. These hones are inland open-air tidal lagoons surrounded by sheer cliffs up to 1000 feet high. The only way in-out through the tidal window on the certain days. These windows may only be open for 15-20 minutes a day. "WINDOW" is the name we give to a cave that on high tide is under water and not visible. On low tide the cave is dry exposing razor sharp rocks or deep mud. Only when the water is at the certain level, we can paddle the sea kayak through the tidal cave or window, entering in to lost world called "Hong". "SEA CAVE" The sea caves were the effected of the water erosion. The water erosion had a great effect on the bay's islands
